In the year 2085 A.D., human life changed forever when half of the Earth's population was destroyed by an alien virus brought by a falling asteroid. One hundred years later, Dr. Syrian Drake is the hope for all human life; his medical facility, Drake Corp., brings the promise of a cure for the virus, but there is more to Syrian than anyone yet realizes. And now, with human beings on the verge of extinction, a medical student from New York and a monster created in the depths of Drake Corp. may be the only hope for our dying species.
