Escaped convict Abigail Murphy's on the run while plotting revenge on the man responsible for her imprisonment and the deaths of her parents. When she gets to Freewill, Wyoming, she gets lost in the bustle until she comes face to face with Daniel Yuleman, a man who could ruin everything. Daniel is a man wearing two hats. Preacher and lawman, he's been in Freewill for a couple of months waiting to pick up the trail of two killers when Abigail arrives. Told to watch her, he's drawn by the shadows in her eyes. The closer he gets to her, the more dangerous it becomes. As her secrets come out, he finds himself fighting to keep her and their burgeoning love alive. Can an outlaw capture the heart of a preacher turned lawman, or will they both end up on the run?
