Everly Taylor's life is turned upside down by the death of her Mum. Foisted upon a father who, until two weeks ago had never known she existed. Everly leaves behind everything that is familiar to her and moves down south to live with her new Dad and his family. Thrust into a world of money and private sixth form education, Everly struggles to adjust to a world so different to her own. Her stepbrother Dominic introduces her to her new surroundings and to the rich, arrogant and undeniably gorgeous Grayson St. Clair. Grayson stands for everything Everly hates, but could he be exactly what she needs? Play the game, lose your heart.
