Nick Caratelli flees the city in an attempt to escape a broken relationship and a career he never wanted. He plans to set up a bed-and-breakfast in the heart of Pennsylvania Dutch country—despite the fact he has no experience in renovating the old building. Luckily his handsome neighbor Sam approaches him with a curious proposal: he'll help with the restoration in exchange for Nick babysitting his niece. As they work to have the bed-and-breakfast open for business by summer's end, their lives become interwoven without them even trying. Before he knows it, Nick is recovering from his loss and taking his place in the unconventional family that seems determined to form. But for Nick and Sam to be together in all the ways they desire, they'll have to realize all the arguments against romance exist only in their heads.... States of Love: Stories of romance that span every corner of the United States.
